

Little Things That Mean Good Table Manners

Never take your seat until the lady of the house is seated.

Never lounge on the table with your elbows, nor tip backwards in your chair.

Never play with your knives, forks or glasses, but cultivate repose at the table. It is an aid to digestion.

Never tuck your napkin into your vest, yoke or collar. It is unfolded once and laid across the knees without a flourish. After the meal, at a restaurant or formal dinner, lay it unfolded at your place. If you are a time guest in the household and will remain another meal, you may fold the napkin in its original creases.

Never put the end of a spoon into your mouth, slip everything from the side of the spoon, and do this noiselessly.

Never put your knife in your mouth nor use a spoon when a fork will serve. Forks are now used for eating ice cream, and salad, is folded or cut with the side of a fork, never with the knife. Even small vegetables like peas are eaten with a fork.

Never hold your knife and fork up in the air when your host is serving you a refreshment. Lay them on one side of the plate when you send it to the host by servant or your neighbor at table.

Never leave your spoon in coffee or tea cup. Lay it on the saucer.

Never cool food by blowing upon it. Wait until it becomes cool enough to eat.

Never take a second helping at a large and formal dinner. You will find yourself eating alone.

Never make yourself conspicuous in any way by adding the host or hostess in serving, unless especially asked to do so, or in passing dishes when servants are provided for that purpose.

Never push back your plate and finger crumbs at the conclusion of the meal. It indicates undue haste.

Remember that:

Large pieces of bread or cracker are broken into smaller pieces before being buttered and carried to the mouth.

Cake may be broken and eaten like bread or crackers or it may be eaten with a fork.

Celery, olives, radishes, salted nuts, bon-bons, preserved ginger and other trifles are eaten from the fingers, but berries, melons and grape fruit must be eaten with a spoon. Orange juice may be pressed out with a spoon, bananas are generally eaten with a fork, peaches, apples and pears are peeled, quartered and cut into small pieces and then picked up with the fingers. Grapes and small plums are eaten from the fingers, and the stones or skins taken into the hand and carried to the plate, never dropped from the lips. Prune seeds are best pressed out with the spoon before the fruit is eaten, and then laid to one side on the plate.

The tender asparagus tips must be cut off with a fork, and the remainder of the stalk goes to waste. Bones or fowl, game or chops must not be taken in the finger, but green corn may be eaten that way.

Artichokes, source of much grief to the inexperienced diner, if served hot or cold with sauce must be broken apart, leaf by leaf, and the tip dipped in the sauce, and eaten from the fingers. The heart is cut up and eaten with a fork.

Finger bowls are provided merely to moisten the finger tips, not for a general handwashing.

Your host who inquires what portion of poultry or game, rare meat or well done, you prefer will thank you for a definite answer. If you really have no preference, so say definitely. Do not enumerate various cuts that appeal to you.

RECIPE FOR BOILS, PIMPLES AND SORES.

Shake well in a bottle the following and take one teaspoonful after each meal and at bedtime, viz.: Fluid Extract Dandelion one-half ounce, Compound Sarsaparilla three ounces.

These ingredients are harmless and can be obtained from any good pharmacy here at nominal cost.

This mixture is said to be a splendid Spring Tonic and Blood Cleanser, because of its gentle, though prompt, action in forcing the kidneys to filter and strain from the blood and cast out in the urine all acids, waste and micro-organisms which cause pimples, boils and eruptions and which often ruin a good complexion.

Now is the time to take it.

understand she plays remarkably well?"

"Yes," answered Miss Cayenne. "She does play remarkably well. That is the reason we don't want her." Washington Star.

He Knew It.

"I suppose," said the city girl who was passing a week in the country, "that you know all the different flowers."

"I reckon mebbe I do," replied the old farmer.

"What does a forget-me-not look like?" queried the girl.

"Oh," replied the horny-handed son of toil. "It's just a ordinary knot in a string th' ole woman ties around my finger when I go t' town an' she wants me t' git sunthin' fer her."—Chicago News.

Another Motive.

Towne—He's a religious crank, isn't he?

Browne—Not at all! Where did you get that notion?

Towne—Well, he got me in a corner the other day and began right off to ask me if I was prepared to die.

Browne—Yes; he's a life insurance agent.—Philadelphia Press.

GREATEST YEAR FOR INVENTIONS

Nineteen hundred and six was the greatest year for inventions on record. The greatest activity was in improvements and discoveries in electricity, automobiles, gas engines, and wireless telegraphy. It is not possible for the patent department to give the exact number of patents granted, but it is announced that all records were broken, and that the commercial value of last year's patents exceeds any previous year.

Edward B. ... assistant commissioner of patents ... authority for the statement that the applications for patents to-day come almost entirely from professional inventors, men who are trained to discover and devise new methods, new processes, new machinery and improvements on old machinery. They are paid very large salaries by the large corporations because of their inventive genius. The long haired crank is seen no more about the patent office department. The inventor of to-day is a scientist. Their inventions are not the result of accidents, but are obtained after years of careful study, the application of scientific knowledge, combined with plenty of experience.

The great corporations of this country employ hundreds of professional inventors, and the largest number of patents naturally come from them. When the large concerns began to combine their interests a few years ago the cry arose that the relaxation of competition would be the death blow to invention, that former rival manufacturers having merged their interests would not attempt improvements. This theory has been proven entirely wrong. With the combine began the greatest activity in invention the world has ever known. The General Electric Company, the United States Steel Company, the harvesting manufacturers concerns, the automobile manufacturers, scour the world for inventors and the result has been more inventions during the past few years, than were ever recorded before. A staff of 300 examiners in the patent department is kept busy examining the applications for patents.

The greatest strides in invention during the past few years have been along electrical lines. Their number is legion, and each week sees one or more new electrical discovery.

There is also considerable activity in wireless telegraphy and aerial navigation, as a large number of patents were granted in 1906 in these fields.

A BUNCH OF REAL BARGAINS

Six frame, two-story houses of four rooms each, now renting for $576.00 a year. Ground rent $240.00 a year. Lease runs 10 or 12 years longer. Price $1,200.00. Now paying over 25 per cent. Prompt action required on your part.

Here is one that will pay for itself in a little over four years. It is a nine-room house, renting for $338.00 a year, and is dirt cheap at $1,400.00, with terms to suit.

All Jefferson Avenue property is good, and especially a new brick building at $4,000.00 that rents for $37.00 a month, or a splendid frame place for $3,300.00 that is renting for $32.50 a month. Both are good, solid and permanent investments. Any terms that suit you.

Real Estate that pays and holds its own is what the careful investor wants, and a $10,000.00 Brick proposition on a corner, and inside lot on Jefferson Avenue, renting the whole year round for a hundred dollars a month, is not bad. It's what we would call a pretty good income.

Space will not allow me to tell you of other bargains on my list, but I have them at all prices and terms.

I have made money for every person who has bought real estate through me, and any man who has $50.00 or more to invest in Real Estate, I will make money for him.
